

100 MB Ethernet Cable

- Standard network cable can handle 100MB of information between devices
- IP phones, computers and network servers all share this cable
- K Keup's example assures we have enough bandwidth for all applications
- QoS will be part of the new computer network design –assuring top voice quality