

In order to keep telecom-related expenditures under control your accounting system must be tracking monthly billing, service agreements, contracts and even data consumption to ensure both client and service provider meet minimum performance and revenue requirements. Without having a consistent monitoring system in place, performance and finances can be adversely affected.

Effective TEM work takes, time, consistency and a dedicated system of checks and balances. At RAM we focus on the entire 'Lifecycle' of your accounts. Here's an illustration.

RAM's Lifecycle Management Process

Process Defined

The PAY OFF

Our lifecycle expense process is comprised of the following steps. These steps are critical for helping our clients successfully acquire the best services as economically as possible. Our process eliminates waste and raises productivity.

Service Discovery

What services does your business use and why?
Let's figure out if your organization can do better!

Baseline Visibility

We help you gather all accounts, make them visible and establish your cost baseline! Now we can tell where potential waste can be resolved.

Review

We consistently monitor fixed and mobile services on a monthly basis. Contracts and billing can and do change on a regular basis. We help you keep your service provider honest.

Adjust & Adapt

Are you not sure how many devices you need for users? Are you unsure about data consumption rates? We supply you timely data so you make appropriate service updates as needed for the business.

Order fulfillment

We assist you in ordering appropriate products that meet business needs without breaking contractual requirements.

Measure

Are we saving you money in hard costs and management time? The accounting analytics supply the answers quickly and accurately.

If your organization is serious about shoring up its corporate telecommunications then consider contacting RAM for help. Since 2001 we've helped businesses save substantial revenues on their telecom costs.
